THE JOHN RICHARD KUHLMANN WELLNESS CENTRE PROGRAM

TERM 3: 17 JULY – 20 OCTOBER 2017

OFFICIAL RENAMING OF THE “JOHN RICHARD KUHLMANN WELLNESS CENTRE”

On Monday 22nd May, we received a donation of $466,000 from the John Richard Kuhlman Foundation toward the capital works development of the proposed Liverpool Cancer Therapy Centre (LCTC) Wellness Centre.

John was a patient of ours over a decade ago and a charitable foundation was established as his legacy. His parents and their friends have managed this foundation over the years providing support and assistance to cancer sufferers but they would like to leave the remainder of the funds in the foundation to the LCTC Wellness Centre development.

Recognising this significant contribution, it has been agreed that we would re-name our Wellness Centre, the “John Richard Kuhlmann Wellness Centre” (JRK Wellness Centre). Funds will only be used by Liverpool Hospital / SWSLHD to build a free-standing Wellness Centre or a Wellness Centre within the Liverpool Hospital Phase 2.2 development.

A plaque with the new name has been mounted in the current Wellness Centre.

Should you wish to be involved in the development of our new Wellness Centre, donations would be gratefully accepted. Please contact LIV.WellnessCentre@sswahs.nsw.gov.au.

BRAVERY UNMASKED WORKSHOPS AND EXHIBITION DETAILS

What happens to the masks after treatment?

All patient identifications and marks are removed from the mask at the end of treatment.

Patients have the option to take the mask home, or the masks were disposed of as recycled material. Now, the masks are transformed into works of art as part of the Bravery Unmasked Program.

NSW Health & the arts

Researchers from the USA National Institutes of Health reviewed 27 randomized clinical trials including 1,576 cancer patients, examining effects of creative arts therapies on psychological symptoms and quality of life. They found that creative arts based therapy helps clients to:

- express feelings when it is difficult to talk
- explore imagination and creativity
- develop healthy coping skills
- improve self-esteem and confidence
- identify and clarify issues and concerns
- increase communication skills
- share in a safe nurturing environment
- improve motor skills and physical co-ordination
- identify blocks to emotional expression and personal growth

What is Bravery Unmasked?

The Bravery Unmasked programme in South Western Sydney was inspired by another innovative program called Courage Unmasked Tennessee (www.courageunmaskedtn.org).

To our knowledge this is the first time that this particular initiative has been undertaken in Australia where masks have been used as a tool for people to explore emotions and reflect on their treatment experience.

With the help of a creative arts therapy project in Liverpool and Campbelltown Cancer Therapy Centres, patients can attend workshops with local artists or art therapists in order to decorate their masks and transform them into an art piece.

These decorated masks were displayed at the Casula Powerhouse Arts Centre in June 2016 and some are being displayed at other radiotherapy departments as part of a travelling exhibition in order to advertise the ongoing programme, and provide information for patients about radiotherapy and the masks.

What is a Radiotherapy Mask?

What is Radiotherapy?

Radiation therapy uses high-energy radiation to shrink tumours and kill cancer cells. X-rays, gamma rays and charged particles are types of radiation used for cancer treatment.

The radiation may be delivered by a machine called a linear accelerator or LINAC (Figure 1). It sends high doses of radiation to the cancer cells while sparing normal tissue.

About half of all cancer patients receive some type of radiation therapy sometime during the course of their treatment.

Why do patients receive radiotherapy?

Radiation therapy is often given with curative intent (that is, with the hope that the treatment will cure a cancer, either by eliminating a tumour, preventing cancer recurrence or both).

In such cases, radiation therapy may be used alone or in combination with surgery, chemotherapy, or both.

Radiation therapy may also be given with palliative intent to relieve symptoms caused by cancer.

Why do we need masks for head & neck cancers?

Radiation treatment is given in fractions (number of treatments). Fractionated treatment allows the normal tissue to repair in between treatments.

Typically treatment can range from 1 to 35 treatments.

During treatment, it is necessary to ensure that the patient will be in exactly the same position every day.

Patients getting radiation to the head and neck area may need a mask;

- to make it easier for a patient to stay still
- to help keep the head from moving so that the patient is in the exact same position for each treatment
- so markings can be drawn on the mask, not on skin

How are the masks made?

- 1 • The masks are made from a thermoplastic material (Figure 2)
- 2 • The mask is heated in a 70 degree water bath for 3-5 minutes (Figure 3)
- 3 • Excess moisture is removed by drying the mask using clean dry towel
- 4 • The mask is placed over the patient and stretched downward slowly and evenly (Figure 4)
- 5 • The mask is cooled by applying iced towels over mask
